Pustalka and Hermann To Be Executed at Sing Sing.

EACH MAY MURDERED HIS WIFE

Expected That They Will Meet Death Finally—Visitors to the Condemned Men—Final Test of the Electrical Apparatus This Morning.

Sing Sing, N. Y., April 23.—Warden Sage has made all necessary preparations for the double execution of wife murderers Louis Hermann and Charles Pustalka to-day. Pustalka was visited yesterday by Father Creeden and two Sisters of Mercy from New York, who remained with him nearly all day. Pustalka was also visited by his youngest child, a girl aged 4 years, accompanied by two Dominican Sisters from the home Blauveltville, N. Y., where all four of Pustalka's children are being cared for. Pustalka was very much affected by the visit of his child. Hermann was visited by his brother from Philadelphia and his brother-in-law of Brooklyn. Hermann was not affected in the least by their visit. He was also visited by Chaplain Weillis. Hermann says he was baptized in the Episcopal church, was married in the Episcopal church and will die in the Episcopal faith. He will be accompanied to the chair by Chaplain Weillis. Pustalka will be accompanied by Father Creeden of this place and Father Bruder of Poughkeepsie. Both men are bearing up bravely and will meet their fate, it is thought, without making any trouble. State Electrician Davis has made the final test of the electrical apparatus.

ADJOURNED SINE DIE.

Senator Quay Thanks the Pennsylvania Republicans for Last Fall's Results.

Harrisburg, April 23.—At the republican state committee meeting yesterday afternoon the report of the committee on the contest from Allegheny county was presented. The report favored seating the contestants. Senator Flynn presented a minority report and made a vigorous speech in defense of his position. The majority report prevailed. A delegate from the fourth district of Luzerne county said the district had elected two delegates but Chairman Quay ruled that the district was entitled to but one, and each delegate was accordingly accorded half a vote by the committee. Senator Quay thanked each member for the part he took in achieving the "magnificent results" of last November, and then declared the committee adjourned sine die.

RAINES LIQUOR LAW.

Opinion of New York's Corporation Counsel on the Hotel Provision.

New York, April 23.—Corporation Counsel Scott sent an opinion to Chief of Police Conlin holding in effect that so long as a man holds a hotel license regularly issued by the excise board he is a hotel proprietor within the meaning of the law, and where the police have a suspicion that any provision of the law is being violated, but no tangible evidence can be secured, the matter should be referred to the district attorney for investigation and indictment if the case warrants.

President Faure May Resign.

London, April 23.—The Daily News publishes to-day a dispatch from its Paris correspondent in which President Faure is represented as very uneasy, hardly knowing which way to turn. According to the dispatch, M. Faure meditates reverting to the policy formerly adopted by M. Sadi-Carnot of shuffling off the outgoing cabinet and bringing it in again as a new one. If the chamber of deputies support M. Bourgeois a deadlock will ensue unless President Faure shall ask the senate to join in dissolving or resign himself.

Mrs. Pietzel Will Demand Restitution. Philadelphia, April 23.—Thomas A. Fahy, counsel for Mrs. Benjamin F. Pietzel, said to-day that his client will arrive in this city, probably this afternoon. The object of Mrs. Pietzel's visit is to demand restitution from Holmes for the $6,000 insurance money due her upon the death of her husband and which Holmes collected shortly before the murder of the Pietzel children.

TO CONSTRUCT CANALS.

Bill To Incorporate a Company To Build Waterways in New York.

Washington, April 23.—Mr. Cooper of Wisconsin has introduced in the house a bill to incorporate the Maritime Canal Company of America. It empowers the company to construct canals from some point near the head of tidewater navigation in the Hudson river to Lake Champlain; from Lake Champlain to Lake St. Francis; from the head of Lake St. Francis to the Long Sault rapids on the St. Lawrence, and from Lewiston on the Niagara river to a point above Niagara falls, all to have channels of twenty feet navigable depth and sufficiently wide for the largest vessels to pass. The company is also authorized to widen, deepen and straighten the Champlain and Hudson canal between the points where their canal crosses the Champlain and Hudson canal, and provides that the company in so doing shall donate to New York state locks connecting its own canal with the Champlain and Hudson canal, and the Glen Falls feeder, such locks to be of the dimensions of the present Erie canal locks. Provision is also made for the disposal by the company of their terminals and other appurtenances whenever desired. Authority is also given to the company to hold, but not to alienate so much of the land covered with the waters of the rivers and lakes which the canal may traverse as may be required for their wharves and other works.

New Haven, April 23.—A resume of the work of the Connecticut republican state convention, held in New Haven yesterday, is as follows: Resolutions were passed declaring for a gold standard for protection, and for the Monroe doctrine, and pledged its support to the man who should be nominated at St. Louis. The delegates go to the national convention uninstructed. They are: Morgan J. Bulkeley, John L. Hutchinson, A. H. Brewer and Samuel Fessenden. County and district delegates: J. A. VICTORY FOR STRIKERS LIKELY.

Philadelphia Contractors Sign the Children's Jacket Makers' Agreement.

Philadelphia, April 23.—Meyer Shoenfeld, organizer of the United Garment Workers of America, spent the greater part of his time in this city in visiting manufacturers to discuss with them the action of the contractors in refusing to renew last year's contracts with the children's jacket makers. Present indications point to a victory for the striking jacket makers. Five contractors have agreed, it is said, to renew the agreement. Mr. Shoenfeld says that several contractors have gone to New York to secure new hands. The local unions of the United Garment Workers in that city have been requested to endeavor to dissuade children's jacket makers there from coming to this city.

EXIST ONLY ON PAPER.

Immense German Estates, Claimed by American Citizens, Are Fictitious.

Washington, April 23.—W. Henry Robertson, United States consul at Hamburg, has informed the state department that at his request the authorities there investigated the supposed existence of the Fischer or Fisher estate, to which American citizens have made claim, and reported to him that, after a most careful search, they have found nothing and anything bearing the name of Fischer or Fisher is a mere fiction. The records of a few parties bearing similar names. The same answer was given in regard to other alleged estates. The authorities say that all these immense estates exist only on paper.

MUST LEAVE CUBA

Rev. Albert Diaz and His Brother Released from Custody.

SIX DAYS' TIME ALLOWED THEM

The Exodus from the Island Continues—Newspaper Representatives Released on Bail—Weyler Attempts To Justify His Threats.

Havana, April 23.—Rev. Albert Diaz, the American Baptist missionary, and his brother Alfred, who were arrested last week, have been set at liberty, but have been ordered to leave the country before the expiration of six days from the time of their release. The exodus from the island continues. The last Spanish mail steamer had on board 865 passengers, and all the rooms on the next steamer to sail have been engaged. Messrs. O'Leary and Darley, American newspaper representatives, who were arrested at Matanzas on charges of maintaining relations with Alfonso Lopez, who is suspected of being a rebel spy, have been released on bail, which was furnished by the American vice-consul. Little war news is obtainable, the only information received being of slight importance. Louis Morales, a negro, was tried by court martial for having insulted the Spanish army and nation. The result of his trial is not known.

WEYLER'S ACCUSATIONS.

He Attempts To Justify His Threats of Exterminating the Cubans.

Havana, April 23.—Governor-General Weyler's chief of staff publishes a list of acts of insurgents which caused Gen. Weyler to proclaim them criminals and threaten them with death. Gen. Weyler authorizes its publication, "that the facts may be proven and the world may see to what use the arms sent to the insurgents are really put." These deeds were all done within the week before the proclamation was issued. He accuses the insurgents of burning villages at night while the inhabitants were asleep, the murder of inoffensive people, including women, boys and old men, destroying sugar estates, and the burning of fully 30,000,000 pounds of sugar. In nearly every case, the chief of staff says, where sugar plantations were destroyed, it was because the owners and workmen do not stop work and let themselves and their families starve, at the order of these men, whose acts, as above stated, Gen. Weyler holds, show them to be bandits, deserving no less than extermination. Gen. Weyler declares that if the outrages are committed by the Cuban or Spanish troops under him, he does not know it or order it; that they are retaliations for such outrages as the above, but he says he is here to protect the peaceful and industrious people of Cuba against such wrongs, and intends to do it.

REFORMS FOR CUBA.

Will Not Be Applied Until Circumstances Are Favorable.

London, April 23.—The Post to-day publishes a dispatch to a news agency from Madrid saying that Senor Canovas del Castillo, the prime minister, states that political reforms in Cuba will not be applied until circumstances are favorable for such action and Captain-General Weyler requests that it be taken. The dispatch also states that the prime minister reaffirms positively that there is not the slightest foundation for the reports that negotiations are being carried on between the governments at Madrid and Washington.

NEWFOUNDLAND SEALERS.

The Total Catch Will Aggregate About 180,000 Skins.

St. Johns, N. F., April 23.—The sealing vessels Esquimaux and Terra Nova have arrived here from the seal fishery. The former has on board 10,000 young and old seal skins, equal in weight to 20,000 prime seal skins. The Terra Nova's catch is about half that of the Esquimaux, and her trip has been an unprofitable one. Only six more vessels are out. The total catch will aggregate about 180,000 skins.

Maryland Delegates Uninstructed.

Baltimore, April 23.—The republican state convention elected the following delegates-at-large: George S. Wellington, James A. Cary, Wm. T. Malster and Robert P. Graham. Electors-at-large: Gen. Adam E. King and J. Cookman Boyd. The convention voted down a resolution instructing the delegates for McKinley and they will go uninstructed.

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

President Cleveland's Coolness Saves Him from Death.

ACCIDENT WHILE DRIVING HOME

Horses, Maddened by a Fall, Plunge and Kick, Damaging the Carriage—Remained in His Seat Until Danger Was Past.

Washington, April 23.—The rumor that President Cleveland had been seriously injured by the overturning of his carriage through a collision with a cable car while on his way to Woodley from the executive mansion, was only partly true. While President Cleveland sustained no injury whatever, he had a very narrow escape, and had it not been for his presence of mind he might have lost his life. While the president was being driven to Woodley one of the horses fell, causing the other horse also to lose its footing. The animals kicked vigorously, broke one of the lamps of the carriage and also broke the dashboard and ruptured the harness. The president did not immediately alight, as the coachmen were quickly on the ground and disentangled the animals from the victoria.

His Presence of Mind.

An eye-witness of the accident says that the president displayed remarkable presence of mind in remaining in the vehicle until the horses were disentangled from the harness, for, although he was in serious danger in his position, had he alighted near the maddened animals he might have been seriously injured, perhaps killed, by a kick from one of the brutes. When the president left his carriage Hon. Gardner G. Hubbard, who was driving along the road, seeing the plight he was in, stopped and courteously tendered his carriage to the president who accepted a seat in it and was conveyed home in time for dinner.

DANBURY'S FIRE.

The Total Loss Inflicted Will Reach Fully $70,000.

Danbury, Conn., April 23.—The fire yesterday afternoon which destroyed Mackenzie & Sons' and Davenport & Von Gals' hat factories and George Taylor's tobacco store, near Taylor street, inflicted a total loss of fully $70,000. The fire started in the drying room of the Mackenzie factory. Engineer Charles B. Pickering smelled smoke, and on opening the door of the drying room the flames burst out and drove him back. There were but a dozen operatives in the place, as the factory had been shut down to make repairs. The flames spread so quickly that they had barely time to make their escape. Fifteen minutes after the fire started the Mackenzie factory was in ruins and the flames had spread to Davenport & Von Gals', fifty feet distant. From there they leaped to the Taylor building, Lee & Hawley's factory just beyond and H. McLaughlin's opposite were on fire several times and with the strong wind that was blowing it looked as though it would be impossible to save them. All buildings were large three-story frame structures. Mackenzie & Sons employed 150 hands and Davenport & Von Gals, 125. Both shops were fairly busy. Mackenzie & Sons' loss is $25,000; insurance, $20,000. Davenport & Von Gals' loss is $35,000; insurance, $20,000. George Taylor's loss is $8,000; insurance, $4,000.

SOUTH AFRICAN AFFAIRS.

Great Britain Determined To Prevent Foreign Intervention.

London, April 23.—In a speech at the Constitutional club last evening Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, reiterated his formerly expressed views regarding South African affairs. He insisted that Great Britain must above all things prevent foreign intervention and expressed hope that harmony would soon be restored. In his remarks Mr. Chamberlain divulged nothing regarding the negotiations now in progress. The government, he said, was fully alive to the serious position resulting from the revolt in Matabeleland, but believed that the repression of the outbreak could be best achieved by the local forces, and, therefore, unless an unexpected emergency should arise, would not send a large detachment of imperial troops to the scene of the trouble.

Held in $3,000 Bonds.

Winsted, Conn., April 23.—J. N. Cowles of Norfolk, under arrest charged with embezzling the property of D. J. Warner of Salisbury, was placed under bonds of $3,000. Cowles was a member of the Norfolk banking firm of Cowles & Eldridge, which collapsed a few months ago. At the time of the failure Eldridge fled to Norfolk, Kansas, but was brought back on a requisition and in the superior court at Lenoxfield he pleaded not guilty of embezzlement.

Its Work Not Finished.

Utica, N. Y., April 23.—The extraordinary grand jury summoned in the United States court for the purpose of considering the Elvira bank cases, although an all-day yesterday.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

Pension Bill in the House—Appropriation Bill in the Senate.

Washington, April 23.—The house to-day is engaged in debate on the general pension bill reported from the committee on invalid pensions. The debate is likely to continue throughout the week. Its provisions were explained at length by Mr. Pickler, rep., S. D., chairman of the committee, who occupied two and one half hours in making his speech. The intent of the bill, he said, was to fix and determine certain controverted questions which had arisen in the administration of the pension bureau, so as to prevent secretaries of the interior and pension commissioners from undoing the work and reversing the rulings of their predecessors. In the house yesterday a vote was taken on the resolution declaring Albert T. Goodwyn, rep., to have been elected representative from the fifth district of Alabama, and entitled to the seat occupied until yesterday by James E. Cobb, dem. The resolution was agreed to, and Mr. Goodwyn was thereupon sworn in. The bills to continue the present government of Greer county, which the supreme court of the United States on March 16 declared was a part of Oklahoma and not of Texas, and to confirm the titles of settlers on the public lands therein, were passed. Mr. Scranton, rep., Pa., endeavored to secure consideration for the bill providing for the election of a delegate in congress from Alaska, but Mr. Crisp, dem., Ga., objected.

In the Senate.

The Indian appropriation bill is occupying the attention of the senate to-day, various matters in connection with Choctaws, Chickasaws, Creeks and "squaw men" being under discussion. The bill as it came from the house appropriated $1,135,000—increased by the senate to $1,325,000—for support of day and industrial schools for Indian children. But this appropriation is accompanied by a provision absolutely prohibiting future payment for education of Indian children in sectarian schools. Mr. Cockrell offered an amendment to substitute for that provision a declaration that it is the settled policy of the government to make no appropriation whatever for the education of Indian children in any sectarian school, just as soon as it is possible for provision to be made for their education otherwise. It also provides that the secretary of the interior may make contracts with present contract schools during the fiscal year 1897, to half the amount used for the fiscal year 1896. This amendment was agreed to.

RAILROAD NOT TO BLAME.

Canadian Pacific's Fatal Accident Due to a Bad Washout.

Greenville Junction, Me., April 23.—A construction crew, working since Tuesday morning, has a track laid around the wreck near Holeb, Me., on the Canadian Pacific railroad and traffic has been resumed. State Coroner Addison of Skowhegan, who investigated the cause of the accident, finds the railroad company in no way culpable for the accident or death of the three emigrants killed on Monday last, but that the accident was caused by a bad washout. All passengers had been warned not to go upon the car platforms at all, but they disobeyed.

DANGERS OF OCEAN TRAVEL.

One Hundred Icebergs and an Immense Ice Field Passed by the Michigan.

Boston, April 23.—Capt. Oxford of the steamer Michigan, from Liverpool, reports that on April 18 he passed about 100 icebergs and an immense field of pack ice, four or five miles in extent, near the bergs. Capt. Oxford says the bergs and ice are directly in the path of ocean vessels, making their passage very dangerous.

Private Gray Convicted.

Long Island City, L. I., April 23.—Matthew Gray, a private in the engineer battalion, United States army, stationed at Willets Point, L. I., was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree by a jury in the supreme court here last night. On Sunday morning, Oct. 13, 1895, Gray fatally stabbed Patrick Shea in John Murray's saloon at Whiteside.

Concord, N. H., April 23.—Mrs. Sylvia W. Hazeltine of Portland has brought suit against Dr. Charles R. Walker, a prominent physician of this city, claiming $25,000 damages for alleged malpractice, and has had all his real estate here attached. The suit is returnable in the United States court at Portland, May 8.

Baron Hirsch's Death.

Budapest, April 23.—Investigation into the cause of the death of Baron de Hirsch proves that the rumors put into circulation to the effect that his death was not due to natural causes are entirely without foundation. The autopsy shows that his death was the result of an attack of apoplexy.

Victory for Dixon.

Long Island City, L. I., April 23.—The fight at the Eureka Athletic club here last night between Johnny Lavack of Cleveland and Tommy Dixon of St. Paul, resulted in a victory for Dixon by a twenty-two

AN ENGLISH ALLIANCE

Edward Atkinson's Idea of Rendering War Impossible.

HIS PLANS FOR UNIVERSAL PEACE

Results Following the Appointment of the Venezuelan Commission Used as an Illustration—Commerce Protectors, Not Commerce Destroyers.

Washington, April 23.—Edward Atkinson, of Brookline, Mass., in his address before the Washington conference on arbitration, said he desired to disabuse the minds of his hearers that he advocated "peace at any price." He argued in favor of an international union of the great manufacturing and commercial states for the enforcement of peace upon the high seas by making use of their naval power to police the ocean. "The time now seems ripe," he said, "for such a treaty among nations, to the end that in place of the base title of 'commerce destroyers,' the ships of the navy of this and other Christian nations may bear the honorable of 'commerce protectors.' The conscience of the English speaking people has been aroused even by the hint of possible warfare between the two great families into which they are now divided. Not only in this country but in Great Britain suggestions tending toward this great advance in the cause of peace have been made in the parliament of the United Kingdom. Shall we let this opportunity pass without securing even greater safeguards for the maintenance of peace than a mere agreement to submit our disputes to arbitration?"

Mr. Atkinson's Plans.

"It need not necessarily be a permanent court, but a submission of each and every cause of dispute as it arises to a tribunal qualified either as a court of law or a court of equity to report upon the rights of the case in the next twelve months, each tribunal selected as each case may arise with a view to the standing and qualifications of its members to deal with the subject at issue. How supremely absurd and ridiculous has the position of the jingoes in our congress become and how superfluous any threat of war on the Venezuelan boundary since the commission of most eminent men was appointed only on our part to whom access has been so readily given by the government of the United Kingdom to all the evidence on which they rest their case. The mere delay required in establishing the rights in this and every case has sufficed, as it would in every other, to expose the sham pretense of patriotism which seeks only personal notoriety by appeals to passion and prejudice. Taxation Here and Abroad.

"Owing to the terrible necessity which rests upon Great Britain to maintain her existence through her sea power, her budget has been increased while our national taxation is being diminished. The cost of our national government for twenty years averaged but five dollars per head of population. Under the impulse to build a new navy and to fortify the coast this charge, after having diminished to only four dollars and a quarter, has been rapidly increased of late—yet our contribution now is only five dollars—it is being reduced, relatively by the rapid increase of objection. The budget of Great Britain, of the present year calls for taxation of nearly thirteen dollars per head for national purposes only. That of France is eighteen dollars; that of Germany, adding to the imperial taxes a part of the budgets of the kingdoms and duchies which are of that nature, ten dollars per head.

Advocates an English Alliance.

"What is our duty and our opportunity? Shall we join in that petty jealousy which has isolated Great Britain among the European states for the very reason that her rule is that of equity and her dominion unimpairable by any effort to retain the sole control of commerce in her great domain to herself alone? Shall we ally ourselves with Spain in her effort to subdue Cuba? Shall we ally ourselves with the junkers of Germany under the rule of 'blood and iron,' of privilege and dynastic control? Shall we ally ourselves with Russia? Or shall we shut up ourselves within our own limits until by the very weight of our crops we are 'smothered in our own grease'? Shall we not rather put aside our petty jealousy and bearing witness to the great function of the English-speaking people and the charge which is upon them to establish personal liberty and the dominion of law wherever they go, may we not now grasp the opportunity which the circumstance of the hour have put within our reach? Shall we not make such a union among the English-speaking people of the world, and all others who may join, as shall render it forever impossible to incite war among them and also impossible for any other state or nation to weaken the bonds of mutual service by which we may now become united? Would not that be a larger patriotism and a nobler idea than has yet been

Children Cry for Pitcher's

BETTER THAN BURGLARALARMS

The Retired Professional Housebreaker's Opinion of Old Maids.

"In my long career," said the Retired Professional as he grew reminiscent, "I of course burglarized all sorts of houses and encountered all sorts of people. I see that the Reformed Burglar says that small dogs are most to be dreaded by our fraternity, while the Bankrupt Murderer lays his misfortunes to crying babies. I'm not going to dispute them, but I'll give you a straight tip that I've had more trouble with old maids than all the dogs and babies put together."

"In just what way?" was asked. "Well, firstly, not one out of 20 goes to sleep before 11 o'clock or later, and as a class they sleep like cats. Kattle a blind and they are out of bed to see what's the matter. Get into a house where there's an old maid around and the chances are more than even that she'll wake up and bring on a calamity. Bless your heart, but I've played with a baby in its crib and actually walked off with a poodle or terrier under my arm, but the old maids beat me every time. I was figuring up the other day, and found that such females as a class had swindled me out of at least $50,000 in my time."

"And if you happened to have the luck to get into a house without waking 'em, and walked in on an old maid as she slept," he went on—"whizz—gee—but your goose was cooked for sure!" You might have a whole cartload of pistols and knives, threaten her with all of 'em, but she'd scream just the same; and such yells and shrieks! I'm no hand to criticize the other sex, but after a career of 20 years, and after retiring in an honorable manner, I must say that I haven't a word in favor of old maids. They drove me away from scores of good jobs just when I had the window up and ready to go in, and they run me out of scores of houses empty-handed after I had the silver packed up and had hushed the wretched baby to sleep. The Reformed Burglar, the Bankrupt Murderer and the Indigent Robber may all have their say and lay it on to dogs and babies and burglar alarms, but the fact remains that I'd have held on to business at least five years longer but for the old maids of this country. They were increasing the risks 100 per cent., and reducing the swag to a piece of pie from the pantry and a few old curios from the parlor mantel."—Detroit Free Press.

CREAMED FISH OUTLETS.

The Formula for a Very Palatable Supper Dish.

This is a very dainty preparation of halibut, which is suitable for an elaborate supper: Take a pint of cooked halibut, broken into flakes. Season it with a teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of white pepper and half a teaspoonful of onion juice, produced by grating a white onion on a large grater. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan, add a large teaspoonful of flour and a cup of rich milk or thin cream. Now add the seasoned halibut. Let it boil and stir in two whites of eggs. Spread this mixture on a platter, and when it is cold cut it out with a cutter in the shape of a meat chop, or cool the mixture in outlet-shaped molds. Stir the two egg yolks left with two tablespoonfuls of milk. Dip each "outlet" in this mixture, then in fine bread crumbs and fry it in hot fat for three minutes, or until it is a rich golden brown. Arrange the outlets in a circle on the largest dinner plate you have, if you have not a regular chop platter, and decorate them with clusters of green parsley. Serve them with tartar sauce. This sauce is especially nice with fish or broiled chickens, and can be made at any time, as it will keep an indefinite period in a covered jar so long as it is kept cold. Chop fine one shallot, a small onion will do, and add a teaspoonful each of chervil and tarragon. Add 12 capers. Put these in an earthen bowl, add half a teaspoonful of mustard and two raw yolks and a teaspoonful of very strong salad vinegar, drop by drop, stirring the yolks of eggs and other ingredients all the time. Add a saltspoonful of pepper. Drop about a half of a pint bottle of oil gradually over the sauce and stir it until it begins to grow as thick as beaten butter, then add the oil more rapidly and finish. Put the sauce in a bowl of ice while beating it and let it be thoroughly chilled as a salad dressing when served on the hot outlets of fish. Salmon or any cold fish can be served in this way and fried either in the form of outlets or croquettes. They may be served with a sauce of a tablespoonful of butter, one of lemon juice and half a teaspoonful of minced parsley, beaten together.—N. Y. Tribune.

Kitchen Comforts.

A big, sturdy, comfortable rocker-cushioned—should avail your pleasure. Sit whenever you can. A couch is a famous rest-giver. Haven't you an old settee hidden away? Drag it out; dress it up. Stout, washable stuff should cover and cushion it. Intervals in baking, wait in your work, should be spent flat on your back. Five minutes at a time will remove the wrinkles and iron out your iron muscles and nerves. Have your kitchen table covered with tin. There will be more time for recreation and less for scrubbing after that. There is a certain joy about being able to lift a hot pot and plump it down on your tin-covered table. That little nervous flutter, born in fear of scorching or staining the table, is gone. And do you realize it is just such little thrills of annoyance that age us, the constant dropping that wears away the stone? Creaking doors, windows that stick, misfit pot-lids—do away with them.—Woman's Journal.

APPENDICITIS.

Grape Seeds Not the Only Cause—Skillful Surgical Operations.

All over the country many people have almost entirely given up the use of grapes and other small fruits on account of their fear of appendicitis. Indeed, so much has been said on this subject that such articles of diet are recorded as almost on the list of things prohibited. A physician of wide experience, and one who has performed many operations for appendicitis, says that in all of the cases that he has handled he has never found a seed of any sort as the irritating cause. Any little particle of undigested food may get into the entrance to this little sac, provided it is open far enough to receive it. It is not supposed to be necessary that any trouble begins immediately, although no one knows positively anything about it.

Appendicitis may begin by a cold, a strain, or any predisposing cause of inflammation. The question has often been asked why we have appendicitis when aforetime such a disease was never known. The only reason is that physicians have learned to locate what was formerly considered an inflammation of the bowels, or peritonitis, or an abscess, the cause and progress of which were involved in obscurity. Surgery has done much to alleviate human suffering, and if people would only use a little more intelligence and reason in matters of this sort, could do much more. Of course, it is not unnatural that the idea of an operation fills the average mind with horror. In years past this was almost equivalent to a death warrant. Very few people survived operations, and the suggestion was, indeed, appalling, but now well-equipped hospitals, modern appliances, antiseptics and skill have changed all this, and one may enter an operating room and go through the ordeal with 95 chances in 100 in one's favor, provided, of course, the system is in a condition to resist an ordinary shock.

It is said that appendicitis is not necessarily a fatal disease, but that proper care and treatment may oftentimes relieve the patient and do away with the need of an operation. Physicians, however, claim that in cases of this sort a recurrence of the disease is not unlikely. However, operations may be undergone with safety, provided the surgeon is skillful enough. If he is not, it is an unfortunate fact, which one must expect to face. Good surgeons are born, not made or educated, and if one can fall into the hands of the few men who have a positive genius for surgery, the undertaking is likely to be gone through with successfully, and the patient is ever after thankful and comfortable. But in the ranks of the medical profession there are found many men who will not hesitate to operate for the sake of the experience it gives them. They always report a successful and brilliant operation, even though a few days later the patient may be dead, "unfavorable symptoms having set in."—N. Y. Ledger.

HOMELY ROYALTY.

Her majesty kept the religious instruction of her children largely in her own hands. When Mr. Birch had been appointed tutor to the prince of Wales, the queen wrote:

"It is an important step, and God's blessing be upon it; for upon the good education of princes, and especially those who are destined to govern, the welfare of the world, in these days, very greatly depends."

A story is told that, when the arch-deacon of London was catechizing the young princes, he said: "Your government deserves great credit for instructing you so thoroughly." At which the boys piped up: "Oh, but it is mamma who teaches us our catechism." It is not, perhaps, generally known that the queen occasionally taught a Bible class for the children of those in attendance at Buckingham palace.

The princess royal when a child, and the prince of Wales, too, needed the curb occasionally. Once the princess at a military review was coquetting with some officers of the escort, and took no notice of warning looks by the queen. Finally she dangled her handkerchief over the side of the carriage and dropped it intentionally. There was a rush of young officers to pick it up, but the queen bade them desist, and, turning to the princess, said in a stern voice: "Now, pick up your handkerchief yourself." There was no help for it. The princess, with flaming cheeks and a saucy toss of the head, did as she was told. Another time it was "Princiele" who received a wholesome lesson. He was riding in company with his father, and for once forgot his usual politeness and neglected to acknowledge the salute of a passer-by. Prince Albert, observing it, said: "Now, my son, go back and return that man's bow," and he had to do it.—Woman at Home.

Predicament of a Baby Prince.

Prince Boris, so European journals hint, was not admitted to the Russian church in a really orthodox manner. The difficulty is said to arise from the holy oils used in the act of consecration. The oils of the Bulgarian branch of the Orthodox church are not recognized by Russian theologians as efficacious, so that Prince Boris, according to Russian ideas, really belongs to no religion whatever. The position of a prince who grows up to find himself an agnostic solely on account of the disputed validity of a particular kind of oil certainly entitles him to compassion.—Detroit Free Press.

Rather Unreliable.

"You say you have been engaged to be married three times?" said a Dallas society youth to Miss Birdie McGinnis. "Yes." "Well, then, I don't think it will be any use for me to make an engagement to go to the theater to-morrow night?" "Why not?" "Because you don't appear to keep your engagements."—Texas.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves." Dr. J. F. Kitchin, Conway, Ark.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

HOW TO GAIN WEIGHT.

A Regimen for the Accumulation of Flesh.

A regimen to encourage the accumulation of flesh prescribes frequent meals, first of all, as, directly after eating, there is a tendency to inactivity which is in itself conducive to fat.
There should be five instead of three meals a day, with a rest after each.
The midmorning and midafternoon refreshment may be light and simple—an egg beaten up in orange juice at one and a glass of milk at the other,
but they should be eaten regularly.
At the other meals more eggs and milk,
toasted bananas, tenderloin steak, hot chocolate, whipped cream, baked potatoes, cream soups of various sorts, and similar fat-producing foods. Coffee,
tea, lemonade, condiments—pickles,
olives and the like—should be used sparingly. Toast should be almost prohibited; gluten, whole wheat, rye, Boston brown or Graham bread partaken of instead. Green salads dressed with plenty of pure oil, and only a dash of lemon juice, are valuable. The salad leaves are really merely the vehicle for oil, more oil, and still oil. It is remarkable the amount of oil one can learn to consume by increasing the quantity little by little. The seker after plumpness should keep off her feet as much as possible. If she is a carriage woman, so much the better; if she is not, and is besides, a business woman, let her watch every chance throughout the day when she may sit or ride in lieu of standing or walking. Another point to be emphasized is to keep warm—not merely fairly warm, but warm at wrist and hand, at foot and ankle, at ears and nose. Nine-tenths of the women go through life shivering, without appreciating that they are cold, because they are used to it. To sum up, ample feeding, inertia and warmth are the three important factors in the flesh-producing formula.—N. Y. Times.

The "Hub of the Universe."

The average kitchen is sepulchral in surroundings and fittings—poorly lighted, ill-ventilated and destitute of the first ray of comfort. Yet it is the "hub of the universe," and the place where one-half of womankind spends most of her waking hours. There is a remedy. I am not going to preach carelessness in housekeeping methods, but I do contend if any slaving must be done in buying, don't let the kitchen appointments suffer. A well-equipped kitchen is more attractive than a dainty drawing-room—when you have to live in it. In trying to "make out" with insufficient numbers of cooking utensils and dishes, the housewife takes from her physical strength and good humor. You may not realize it yourself—but your friends know there is some cause for that tired, strained look in your face.
Learn to economize in physical force
before you draw your purse strings.—
Womankind.

THE LETTER "T."

A French Graphologist Says That If La-douce, the Writer's Character.
A French graphologist has discovered that character can be read from the letter "t" alone. He claims that the vertical line represents the fatality of life, and the horizontal bar the influence human, will exercise upon this fatality.

In addition, he claims that the higher part of the vertical line—that projecting above the horizontal bar—has indications of the amount of idealism contained in the make-up of the writer, and that the inferior part of this line corresponds to the practical and material part of the man's character.

For instance, the optimist crosses his t's with a line that slopes upward from the earth to the sky, as it were. The poet often crosses his t's quite above the vertical line; in other words, in the sky.

The pessimist crosses his t's with a downward sloping stroke. The line, which commences at the ideal portion of the letter, descends little by little until it is lost among the sad realities of earthly existence.

READ LURID LITERATURE.

Fourteen-Year-Old William Shaefer Commits Suicide in Philadelphia.
Philadelphia, April 23.—Fourteen-year-old William Shaefer ended his life yesterday afternoon by hanging in the cellar of his home, 734 West street.
The lad had been morbid and despondent for some time past. He refused to attend school and recently, after being reprimanded by his parents for inattention to his studies, he told several playmates that he would take his life.
They at the time considered it an idle boast. Young Shaefer was an eager reader of lurid literature.

Cinnamon Adulteration.

The organ of the Society of Public Analysts mentions the following curious instance of commercial ingenuity: A certain firm of confectioners abroad use a large quantity of walnuts in various forms of sweets and found that the shells had a distinct commercial value and, in fact, they sold the shells for more than they gave for the whole walnuts. The shells are ground to powder and then used in adulterating ground cinnamon. But the buyer is not altogether secure in purchasing cinnamon in the stick, for this is sometimes adulterated by the natives who gather it with barks of other shrubs. A heartless, ingenious, deception, too, is that practiced every spring, when large quantities of a common weed, the leaf of which closely resembles the musk plant, are by some means slightly scented with musk and sold as the genuine, at so much a root, to the great subsequent disappointment of the buyer.—Household World

Coffee Making.

Many persons who are unable to drink coffee that has been boiled or made by putting the coffee directly in boiling water and cooking at or above the boiling point for a certain number of minutes, are able to drink without any disagreeable consequences, either present or future, coffee made by percolation, that is, by inclosing the coffee in a bag of some kind or in a wire gauze strainer and pouring the boiling water upon it. This method of coffee-making should always be used in households where the members breakfast at different hours, and where only one pot of coffee is made. In France, where chicory is often added to the coffee, percolated or "drip" coffee that is quite strong is often made and tightly bottled or sealed so that its aroma cannot escape and kept in a cool place for several days. As it is wanted it is heated and served with hot milk, and, if you want it absolutely perfect, heat your cup also. Percolated coffee is considered more economical than boiled.—N. Y. Post.

Kidney Trouble Cured.

The importance of knowing just what to do when one is afflicted with kidney disease or troubles of a urinary nature, is best answered by the following letter which was recently published in the Poughkeepsie, N.
Y., News-Press:

MILLERTON, Dutchess Co., N. Y.
"Dr. David Kennedy, Dear Sir:—
For more than eighteen months I was so badly afflicted with kidney trouble I could scarcely walk a quarter of a mile without almost fainting.
I did not gain any until I began to use Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After using the first bottle
I noticed a decided improvement, which continued, and I know that DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

able condition up to the time I began to take it—my friends thought I would never be better.

bladder trouble for over a year, so bad that quantities of blood would come from her. She suffered at times most frightful pain, and nothing seemed to help her until she began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favo-

third bottle and is like a different person.

HYMNICAL.

Hopkins—Wadsworth

From Our Goshen Correspondent.

A very pretty wedding took place in the Presbyterian Church, in this village, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The parties were Mr. E. A. Hopkins, a popular and highly esteemed young man, who is employed in Corwin & Kniffin's hardware store, and Miss Blanche, oldest daughter of the late Hon. Henry A. Wadsworth. The church was very handsomely decorated with potted plants, and a large number of the friends of the young couple were present to see them joined in wedlock's bonds. The ushers were Dr. McGeoch and Mr. Floyd Halsestead. Mr. W. W. Whiddit, the church's organist, presided at the organ, and for half an hour before the ceremony played chosen selections. On the arrival of the bride party the wedding march from Lohengrin was played. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. B. Clark. The bride was most becomingly attired in a suit of green cloth, with white revers and blouse, with hat to match. After the ceremony they were driven to the station, and took Erie train 2 for their wedding journey. On their return they will commence housekeeping on Grand street. Many valuable presents were received by the young people.

GILLEN—REAGAN.

St. Columba's Roman Catholic Church, at Chester, was filled at 5 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, by the friends of Miss Annie Reagan, of Chester, and Mr. Thomas M. Gillen, of this city. They came to witness the ceremony that made them husband and wife. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Hanigan, pastor of St. Columba's Church. The bride couple were accompanied to the altar by Mr. James McCarthy, of New York, as best man, and Miss Jennie Callahan, of this city, as bridesmaid. The ushers were Messrs. William Wade, of Port Jervis, and Mr. Charles Lennon, of this city. The bride's dress was of brocaded white tulle, with white ribbon trimmings. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses. The bridesmaid's dress was of white India silk, with pearl trimmings. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gillen went to the home of the bride's mother and at 6 o'clock gave a reception, which was attended by a large number of their friends. The evening was very pleasantly spent in various social amusements. A special order to stop train 3 at Chester had been issued for the accommodation of Mr. and Mrs. Gillen and their Middletown and Port Jervis guests, and the festivities were brought to a close at an early hour. Mr. and Mrs. Gillen after their arrival in this city went immediately to the home prepared by the groom for his bride, on Cottage street. The groom is a well known machinist, employed in the O. and W. shops. He is a member of McQuoid Engine Co. and of the A. O. U. and is very popular with his friends and acquaintances. The bride is an estimable young lady, who has a very large circle of friends in Chester and in this city as well. Her popularity among her friends was attested by the very large number of presents which she received. The ARGUS joins in the hearty congratulations and good wishes of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gillen.

Mrs. Seymour DeWitt Painfully Injured.
As Mrs. Seymour DeWitt was in the act of turning her driving horse in the dooryard of her residence, this afternoon, the animal stepped upon her right foot, crushing the great toe so badly that surgical treatment had to be given.
Drs. Douglas and Struble were called and found it necessary to remove the nail. The patient was put under ether during the operation.
Burns are absolutely painless when DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is promptly applied. This statement is true. A perfect remedy for skin diseases, chapped hands and lips, and never fails to cure Piles, W. D. Oney.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN COSHEN.

"Bony" Peterson's Interview With Bank President Murray—Death of a Child—Attended a Wedding at Chester—Real Estate Sale—Epworth League Entertainment—Invited to Attend Church.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—Somebody must have told "Bony" Peterson about the game Anarchist Norcross once tried to work on Russell Sage. Yesterday he went into the National Bank of Orange County and demanded a quarter, saying that he would stay there until he got it. His presence would have been as disagreeable as a dynamite bomb. Mr. Murray, president of the bank, promptly threw him out. He was later arrested and for five months from this afternoon he will languish at Albany.

—Loretta, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Crozier, died, yesterday morning, of consumption, aged six months and twenty-one days. The funeral will be held Friday.

TO OCCUPY NEW QUARTERS.

Bull & Youngblood to Move to the Nearing Building Sept. 1st—Other Changes.

O. Z. Taylor is putting a new floor in the store in the Nearing building recently occupied as a music store. The store is being fitted up for Bull & Youngblood, who will take possession of it on Sept. 1st, but do not have to vacate their present quarters until Oct. 1st, so that they will have ample time in which to get their stock to rights in their new store.

The store in the Nearing building is larger than that which Bull & Youngblood will vacate, and is well adapted to the grocery trade. The location is a good one, and there is no doubt that in its new quarters the firm will continue to do a large and profitable business.

The store now occupied by this firm will be fitted up for the Merchants and Manufacturers' Bank, which bought the building last year, and the present bank building, which is owned by Mr. L. Stern, will be connected with his millinery and fancy goods store, making one large establishment.

A Neighbor's Dog on Guard.

A young man, who had been out to see his best girl, last night, and lingered longer at the door than he should have done, returned to his home to find a neighbor's dog on guard at the gate. He tried to make friends with the animal, but it wouldn't have it and he was finally compelled to go to a hotel for the night.

Spring is full of terrors to all whose constitution is not able to resist the sudden changes of temperature and other insubstantialities of the season. To put the system in condition to overcome these evils, nothing is so effective as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take it now.
